

ABSTRACT

A method of failure avoidance when synchronizing a transceiver and a receiver by means of transmitted sequence numbers, wherein each sequence number is not necessarily error protected, and wherein a received sequence number considered erroneous according to a predetermined criterion is disregarded.